TRIUMPHANT ENTRY INTO BERLIN PLANNED

MARSHAL FOCH TO LEAD HOSTS IN HUN CAPITAL.

Generalissimo Strong in Conviction Germany Should Make Reparation.

London, Dec. 4.—(I. N. S.)—In well-informed circles here, it is stated that a tremendous triumph is in store for Marshal Ferdinand Foch, in person, he is to lead the allied forces in a spectacular entry into Berlin when the time comes, if plans now under discussion materialize.

Marshal Foch made a distinct impression upon those who saw him during his London visit. He has the long, thin nose and thoughtful, patient eyes of a great schemer. Cut off his military moustache and change his brilliant military cap to an American fedora, Foch would be a "ringer" for John D. Rockefeller, as the oil magnate looked several years ago, except for Foch's lower jaw and military bearing.

The French marshal is firm in his conviction that Germany would make reparation, according to a statement made before his departure. "The sacrifices to which France has consented," he asserted in a voice that vibrated slightly, "have been colossal. The dead are innumerable. We owe it to them and to our living that our losses are not made in vain; that they are paid for by proper reparation."

Asked to tell about the war's dramatic ending, he said, incidentally, "The offensive was growing more and more extended and was going to be augmented in force when we were stopped by the enemy's demand for an armistice."

"We imposed the conditions and the enemy accepted them. Otherwise we would not have signed the armistice."

"At the finish we were winning victories along a battle front of 250 miles, in which Americans, British, Belgians and French fought gallantly. Had we been permitted to continue the enemy's situation from day to day would have become rapidly worse."

JOIN IN VICTORY FETE

Americans in China Unite in Elaborate Celebration.

(London Times-Pull. Ledger Co. Cable.)

Nov. 28.—(delayed.)—The three days' official victory celebrations in Peking opened today with a grand review of Chinese and allied troops within a huge square fronting the historic throne room in the Forbidden City. Six thousand participated with varied uniforms. The display of national flags presented a magnificent spectacle, which was enhanced by the brilliant sunshine.

President Hsu Shi Chang, entering the main gate, received a salute to the accompaniment of the Chinese national anthem, which was played by an American band. He then passed under an arch of allied flags held by standard bearers, afterward ascending the marble steps and passing the beflagged white terraces of the ancient throne room, where he received the allied commanders. Indians bore the Portuguese flag, the French carried the Belgian, and Americans carried the Brazilian flag.

American Expeditionary Forces, Sept. 28, 1918.
From: Assistant Division Adjutant, 42nd Division.
To: 2nd Lieut. Hugh S. Thompson, 16th Infantry (through military channels.)

Subject: Commendation.
I am directed by the division commander to inform you that your conduct on the occasion of the action Sept. 12, 1918, northwest of Filirey, France, when you were severely wounded while leading your platoon against enemy trenches and against entrenched machine gun positions, at all times reflecting your own personal safety for the good of the service, has been brought to his personal attention and he considers your performance of duty on this occasion worthy of the highest commendation. He regards your actions, in the face of the enemy, gallant, an example to your comrades in arms and characteristic of that splendid standard upon which the traditions of our military establishment are founded.

PENETRATES GERMANY

Third American Army Continues Operation of Occupation.

(By Hon. Noble Hall)

(London Times-Pull. Ledger Co. Cable.)

Treves, Dec. 3.—The entire American army of occupation in Germany is progressing without incident. For several days almost the entire Third army was massed on the frontier of Luxembourg when the command was given and a steady stream of men in khaki poured across the border and has continued uninterruptedly ever since. The attitude of the population in the smaller towns and villages is much the same as in Treves, where the people seemed to be dazed with amazement. They are silent, yet respectful.

As they went about the clean streets amid the houses, none of which showed the slightest trace of warfare, it was impossible not to feel the contrast in the occupied districts of France and Belgium, with their starving population literally in rags, their outrages to women and enslaved men in absolute misery, which the iron heel of Germany had ground into their very souls.

The people on the left bank of the Rhine suffered not only infinitely less than the people of Belgium and France, but less than the Luxembourg inhabitants, who were supposed to be given specially favorable treatment in exchange for their complacency and the open pro-Germanism of their Grand Duchies.

The only people seen coming out of Germany showing signs of hardship and starvation, literally clad in rags, are the allied prisoners of war, whether officers or men.

Impressed By Yankees.

The Americans' entry into Treves was made in typical American fashion. There was nothing of military pomp. It was as if the men were entering any town in which they might happen to be billeted on the front. The band played the men in, but they were on the road in marching order. Some wore forage caps, some steel helmets and carrying rifles as they pleased and all scattered with mud after the long tramp.

The inhabitants were impressed by their splendid physical condition, by the youth and vigor of the men, who had none of the sternness of the German mind usually associated with military forces. Their attitude was not that of a conqueror toward the conquered. It may well be the enemy will seek to take advantage of the generosity of the American spirit, especially as some regiments in the army of occupation have recently been billeted to a large extent with new men, who have seen little of real warfare. Also the American troops were billeted in the town. Neither the occasion nor the temptation will be lacking to that degree of familiarity which breeds contempt of the German attitude.

As far as can be judged by the political situation in Germany, there is a process of disintegration at work which may well split up the once powerful empire into its old component parts. Before long we may see a series of European numbers of small republics, following approximately the political divisions which existed before Bismarck made his "blood-and-iron" speech.

The work of the German military is being undone. It would be a mistake for European and American statesmen to attempt to arrest this process of disintegration.

Trying to Escape Pay.

The only thing that can apparently keep the German people together and under the Central government is if that government can offer them a bait for the immediate return of peace-time food conditions. They are openly trying to escape having to pay the bill of the war and to avoid any real punishment for their crimes. The generosity of America and the chivalry of her army is such that so far as the civilian population in occupied territory is concerned, little inconvenience and much profit will accrue to them from the presence of the American army.

TAMMANY CHIEF NAMED
Co-Defendant in Ten Million Dollar Suit.

New York, Dec. 4.—Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, was named as co-defendant in a civil suit for $10,000,000 damages brought in the supreme court Thursday by Louis Hartog, a manufacturer of malt products, against the Corn Products Refining company and others for alleged breach of contract.

The complaint states that Mr. Murphy possessed and exercised as leader of Tammany Hall great political influence, power and authority, and with the other defendants "conspired to ruin the plaintiff."

Mr. Murphy, according to the plaintiff, agreed to purchase $250,000 worth of stock in a refining corporation, and actually paid half the purchase price, but declined to deliver the rest. Hartog also asserts it was agreed that he was to advance $50,000 as working capital and Murphy $50,000. The plaintiff declares that his business has been ruined because the alleged agreement was not carried out.

Twenty-One Warships, Including Five "Hush" Ships, Added.

London, Dec. 6.—(British Wireless Press.)—Twenty-one new warships, including five "hush" ships of 30,000 tons each, have been added to the British navy in the course of the year. This is revealed in an article published in the Times and written by the Times' naval correspondent. The "hush" ships, so called because of the secrecy attending their construction, are 800 feet long, and are capable of a speed of from 30 to 35 knots an hour.

The others include two ships of the Iron Duke class, five of the Queen Elizabeth type, five others of slightly less displacement than the Queen Elizabeths and four which were taken over while under construction for Turkey and Chile.
